WELCOME

On behalf of the Local Organising Committee of the 26th Congress and General Assembly of the International Union of Crystallography and the Society of Crystallographers in Australia and New Zealand, we would like to extend our warmest invitation to you and your family to join us at the IUCr Congress in Melbourne, Australia from 22-29 August 2023.

The last congress to be held in Australia was in August 1987 in Perth. For those fortunate to attend it still holds fond memories, as well as having provided an ongoing legacy for crystallography in Australia. Building on the 1987 experience, our Congress will focus on equity, diversity and inclusiveness and we will achieve this, in part, through gender balance, strong international attendance and provision of family friendly facilities. A particular emphasis will be placed on student and early career researcher participation. This will enable us to deliver an outstanding scientific program that is accessible to all attendees.

The LOC is working hard to make sure the IUCr 2023 is affordable for all. We also want you to bring your families along. Our Congress will have family-friendly initiatives, including on-site childcare and inclusive activities.

Holding the IUCr Congress in Melbourne ensures a safe and secure environment for all participants. As well as hearing about cutting edge science, you can experience our city's eclectic culture. From the labyrinth of laneways, modern architecture and an abundance of open green spaces- to the wealth of public attractions and the renowned Melbournian coffee, cafés and art scenes.

We can't wait to show you!

Michael Parker

Chair, Local Organising Committee
IUCr 2023

ABOUT IUCr 2023

The IUCr 2023 Local Organising Committee (LOC) consists of leading crystallographers from around Australia and New Zealand. Its Chair, Professor Michael Parker, also chairs the Academy of Science's National Committee of Crystallography (NCCr) with the Academy being an adhering body of the International Union of Crystallography (IUCr). In turn, the IUCr is an International Scientific Union adhering to the International Science Council. The IUCr objectives are to promote international cooperation in crystallography and to contribute to all aspects of crystallography, to promote international publication of crystallographic research, to facilitate standardisation of methods, units, nomenclatures and symbols, and to form a focus for the relations of crystallography to other sciences.

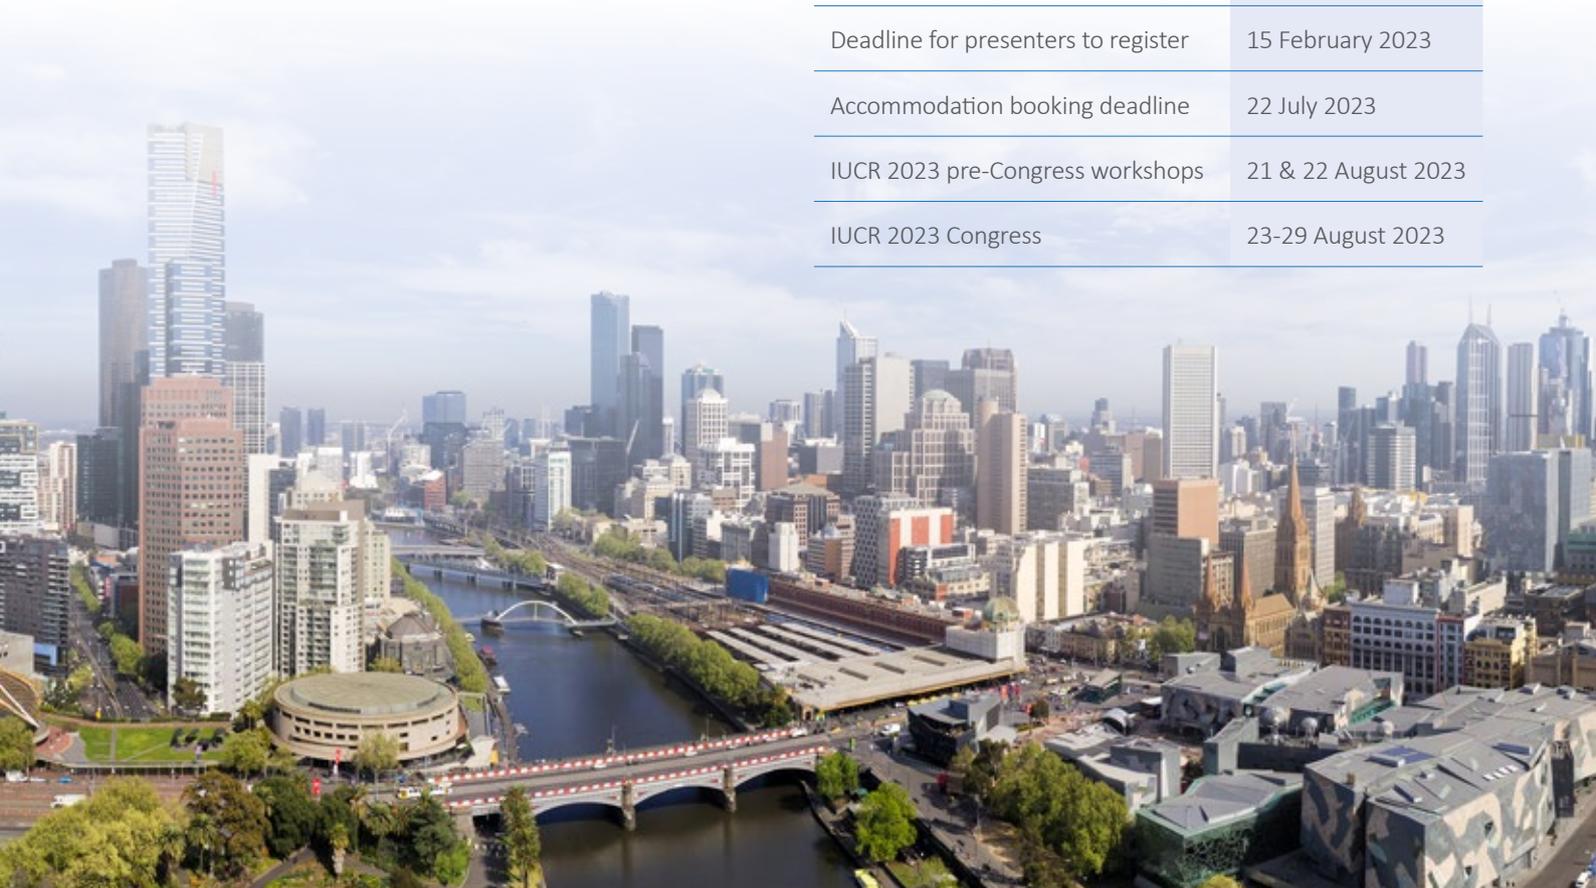

Members of the LOC are also members of the Society of Crystallographers in Australia and New Zealand (SCANZ).

The broad aim of SCANZ is to promote crystallography and related disciplines, such as X-ray and neutron scattering and electron microscopy. It represents a diverse discipline that covers chemistry, physics, geology, materials, biology, biomedical sciences and medicine. SCANZ is a member of the Asian Crystallographic Association, the leading voice in Asia for crystallography matters.

IUCr Congress attendees are students, faculty and industrial scientists with a strong interest in the field of crystallography, together with government and industry representatives, will discuss the latest information on crystallographic theory, methods, techniques, software, hardware, instrumentation, application, data storage, retrieval and analysis. It is expected that delegates will represent a large range of nationalities including many from non-OECD countries.

We expect delegate numbers to exceed 2,200 plus accompanying persons, sponsors and exhibitors based on numbers achieved at the last half a dozen conferences.
